TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 10TH @ 10:00 AM PST - MARCUS WHITNEY

Black belt Hapkido martial artist, owner of the most active healthcare venture capital firm in the US, Amazon #1 bestselling author, minority owner of Nashville's Major League Soccer team.

After teaching himself how to code, in between waiting tables on double shifts seven days a week, Marcus became the first Chief Architect of Emma Email Marketing, Nashville's most successful homegrown marketing technology company. He is the CEO of Health:Further, a strategic advisory firm working with leading healthcare organizations to navigate disruptive change; as well as Founding Partner of Jumpstart Health Investors, the most active venture capital firm in America focused on innovative healthcare companies with a portfolio of over 100 companies. Marcus is principally responsible for bringing professional soccer to Nashville. While starting his company Health:Further he transformed the amateur Nashville Football Club into a Major League Soccer team.

From 2015 through 2018, Marcus accomplished much professionally and struggled much personally. After dealing with his first bout of real depression in his life in 2017, Marcus decided to commit to exercise and work toward a healthier state of being. That process proved to be game-changing. By the end of 2018, Marcus was significantly stronger physically, had attained his Black Belt in Hapkido after years of working towards it, and also came to understand that exercise alone was not enough. He would have to work on his mental health as well if he was going to truly make strides towards being a healthy, whole human being. With his experience of entrepreneurship and creativity, Marcus has now published his long-awaited book, Create and Orchestrate.

Marcus has been listed in the Upstart 100 by Upstart Business Journal, Power 100 by Nashville Business Journal, and has been featured in Inc., Techcrunch, Fast Company and The Atlantic.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 8TH @ 10:00 AM PST - BOB MOESTA

Pioneer of Jobs To Be Done Theory; Moesta has worked on & helped launch more than 3,500 new products, services and businesses across nearly every industry. He has started, built and sold several startups.

Currently President & co-Founder of The ReWired Group, a Detroit, Mich., Innovation consultancy & incubator, he is also a fellow at the Christensen Institute. Bob Moesta helps make innovation and launches more predictable and successful. Among the principal architects of the Jobs to be Done theory in the mid-90s along with Harvard Business School Professor Clayton Christensen, Moesta has continued to develop, advance and apply the innovation framework to everyday business challenges.

Bob is a visual thinker, teacher, and creator. The Jobs to be Done theory is just one of 25 different methods and tools he uses to speed up and cut costs of successful development projects. He is a guest lecturer at The Harvard Business School, MIT Sloan School of Entrepreneurship and Northwestern University's Kellogg School of Management.

A lifetime learner, he holds degrees from Michigan State University and Harvard Business School. He has studied extensively at Boston University's School of Management, MIT School of Engineering and Stanford University's "D" School.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 12TH @ 10:00 AM PST - SHAUN CLARK

Dropped out of college to start the world's largest answering service, left after 12 years to start an accounting software company, sold that and is now helping marketing agencies close more leads to customers through automation.

Shaun Clark is a serial entrepreneur with a background in SaaS startups, marketing, accounting, and cloud computing. He has started and sold several successful businesses with a keen eye for what markets need. Shaun started as a web developer for Babcock and Jenkins for two years before going on to help found and build what has become one of the largest answering services in the country: AnswerConnect. Shaun went on to work as the COO to build Solestruck from the ground up. He was employee number 2 and managed everything from buying to website and backend development. He built both their own custom website and e-commerce solution as well as the fulfillment and shipping interface on the backend.

In 2008 Shaun founded Blue Columbia Holdings. He worked at a high level with a development team of 100+ engineers developing products used to help hundreds of employees work remotely. He founded InvoiceSherpa in 2015, which helps people get paid faster by automating their accounts receivable and automating their invoice payments. Today, Shaun is the Co-Founder and CEO of HighLevel. He has built a seriously powerful marketing tool that empowers businesses to grow by generating reviews from their customers while managing their listings across 80+ sites on the web. They help thousands of businesses big and small to create conversations with their customers via all social, SMS, and Google My Business.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9TH @ 10:00 AM PST - MONTY MORAN

Former co-CEO at Chipotle Mexican Grill (a company with over $5.5B in revenue in 2019 alone); author of Love Is Free. Guac Is Extra.: How Vulnerability, Empowerment, and Curiosity Built an Unstoppable Team

Prior to joining Chipotle, he was head of litigation and then managing partner and CEO at the Denver-based law firm of Messner and Reeves, LLC, which he led for ten years. Most recently, Monty realized his lifelong dream of becoming a pilot, and flies his airplane throughout the United States to pursue his interest in better understanding and serving Americans, a quest he documents through his startup, Old Tale Productions. He is a director and chairman of corporate boards, and an advisor to many entrepreneurs and businesses. Married with three children, Monty lives in Boulder, Colorado.

As CEO, Monty led a company of 75,000 employees. He created a culture of empowerment by having 20,000 meetings with employees. He sought to understand them and truly listen and empower them. Monty built the extraordinary culture that took Chipotle Mexican Grill from a regional burrito chain to a Fortune 500 superstar.

In Love Is Free, Guac Is Extra, Monty shows how he used curiosity, vulnerability, love, and a unique understanding of the true meaning of empowerment to build a distinctive and wildly effective culture. From his teenage days befriending homeless people at a Colorado Dairy Queen to his nuanced navigation of a complex co-CEO relationship, Monty demonstrates a relentless humility and desire to understand the person across from him. He believes in leadership executed by becoming the best version of yourself.

A WORD FROM PETER

One of the most crucial turning points in my career was when I learned to ask questions to solve the problems that were holding me back from the results I was capable of. I challenge you to think about what's holding you back from Becoming Unstoppable. One or two perspective shifts, a new action plan, or a better network can yield you an extra $10,000 to $100,000 in income for the year. If you're accepted into the Academy you will enter a program that will give you a true competitive edge. When you commit to your success with the passion and focus that your life deserves, you'll see results that very few see. Then you can truly experience the powerful momentum that comes from living life at its peak. We don't take your commitment lightly, and we look forward to exceeding all your expectations.

All success,
